

Teamwork – The Ultimate Secret of Success

Teamwork works wonders. There is nothing in this world that remains unyielding when force is applied collectively. One who understands this fact wins not only on the playing field but also in the game of life. On the other hand, the one who projects himself as undefeatable without having attributes to prove the same, gets defeated eventually.

‘No one can whistle a symphony. It takes a whole orchestra to play it.’ With this belief, the Aravali house fought with all their might against the Nilgiri house and bagged the Basketball Trophy in the senior category. Eventually, the victorious Aravalians lifted the trophy with sweat on their foreheads and smiles on their faces.

Harshit Shahi, XII – Sc.

Well Begun Is Half Done

Every sunrise proclaims a new day – the day that is bright, colourful and exciting. Time waits for no one, so we mustn't wait for the perfect moment to begin our proceedings. Every day is a new day and every moment is a new beginning. We should jump headlong into the river and we will definitely learn the different strokes of swimming when our attempt is genuine. The past and the future do not matter to us whereas the present means a lot. If we waste the present, the future will not pardon us and we'll be left at the crossroads without finding the path to tread on. Therefore, we must be diligent and start preparing from day one to achieve our goals and receive the recognition we deserve at year-end.

May we wish ourselves all the best!

Raghav Agarwal, XII – Sc.

"Exploring the Wonders of Agriculture and Science" : A School Trip to a Leading G. B. Pant University, Pant Nagar

Is Man a Victim of His Own Brain Child?

"Man created machines, but over time, machines have become a source of enslavement. Our overdependence on them has stripped away our freedom and ability to be self-dependent. In the future, we may become puppets under the influence of technology. We may be reduced to mere creatures by the very machines we created. After all, humans cannot live life with all perfection. If it is so, it becomes a boring exercise ultimately. It is the nature of man that he makes errors and learns from them. Nonetheless, the hard fact is we are fast compromising our position of invincibility with the machines. Despite this, we must remember that humans possess qualities that machines lack, such as emotions, reasoning, and the fear of retribution.

It is important that we maintain our superiority over machines and remain conscious of our unique abilities as beings with the sixth sense."

Rishidev Pandey, XII - Sc.

Different Hues, Different Moods

"Hues have had a strong association with mankind since time immemorial. From the time of Neanderthal man, colours and human senses have had a close union. In our country, almost all festivities are synonymous with colours. Holi, the festival of colours, breaks all barriers between the young and the old. This is the time when colours give a different shade to the human body. "Everybody looks like actors on a stage with some funny make-up on. The students on campus played Holi with the usual fun and frolic of the festivity. They were playful and lively, but within limits. When the allotted time for play came to an end, the normal routine was followed."

Arpit Jain, XII – Comm.

'A Riot of colour, A Realm of Joy'

Admissions Open for Academic Session 2023-24

+91-9756701767 / 9690005525

<https://www.gdbms.net>

principal@gdbms.net