HALL OF FAME

Arnab Dasgupta, one of our ace alumni (Batch 2004) has made his niche in the world of Theoretical Physics and has made his alma mater quite proud of his accolades. He completed his graduation and Masters in Physics from Delhi University and then was awarded the prestigious degree of Ph.D from Jamia Milia Islamia, Delhi in the year 2015 after a long period of extensive research. He went on to pursue Post-Doctoral degrees at several Universities and is at present working as a Post-Doctoral Fellow at University of Pittsburgh, USA. The school conveys warm wishes for all his future endeavours.

CURIOSITY IS THE MOTHER OF INSIGHT

The human mind is not something like a vessel that is filled, but it is a fire to be kindled and also nurtured. Science is a faculty that is an amalgamation of facts and fancies. Without inventiveness, facts are like mere puppets that do not create any interest among the audience without the involvement of a puppeteer. When puppets and the puppeteer came together, the "Science Week" became a reality in our school from 4th May to 10th May. The students' interest was ignited in the wonders of science which resulted in scientific magic on the stage.

THE STAGE PROVED IT ALL

Swasangam Presentation after a week-long workshop featured the students' demonstration of their interest towards aesthetics like Dance, Culinary Art, Music, Tribal Art, Calligraphy, Archery and Stage-acting. The fire of creativity and zeal was kindled within every student. Overall, the presentation enabled the students to explore the world beyond curriculum and take a step forward on the road of comprehensive learning. Moreover, the Exhibition titled 'Phoenix' helped students regain practical knowledge in different subjects after a hiatus of two years due to online teaching and rejuvenated their interest in activity based learning.

SMASH HIT!

The month of May saw another exciting sporting event— Inter House Volleyball Tournament (Juniors). Students showed commendable skills at such a tender age and showcased their urge to learn and excel in the game. Himalaya House won the Inter-House Tournament but all the other three houses fought hard till the end. It seems, champions of the game are ready to face the seniors now!

RISE OF THE PHOENIX

Just like the Phoenix rises from its ashes, the students and teachers of the school worked together to bring back the light of creativity, praxis based learning and Art Integrated Projects pertaining to all subjects taught in the school after the dark phase caused by Covid 19. Models, Educational Charts, Science Experiments, Literature Tree, Solar enabled lights, China Wall adorned all the corners of the Exhibition Hall and brought smile to everyone's faces. Learning transcended limits of whiteboards and notebooks on this day as comprehensive education won everyone's heart and mind.

LABOUR OF LOVE

International Labour Day was observed on 1st May with apt acknowledgement and appreciation of the relentless labour put in by the staff of the organisation to keep the show running. They were honoured for serving the institute for so many years behind the curtain so that the light on stage would remain as bright as ever. They were rightly revered as the real heroes. Cultural events were presented by the students and the entire programme stood as a token of gratitude for the staff members of the organisation.

FOOTBALL FEVER

Football fever struck the school campus as with the advent of monsoon came the much awaited event of Inter-House Football Tournament. It inspired the students to try their feet at defence, dribble and hustle hit. All the players tried best to show finesse in the sport and score the winning goal. At the end, it was evident that the game of Football had won everyone's hearts rather than a specific house team.
